Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Friedland et al. (US 6,449,601).

Re claims 1 and 13, Friedland teaches a method of accepting prebids in advance of a live auction (col. 6, lines 14-15), said method comprising: a) providing a prebid web site (col. 6, lines 17-22) system to accept prebids (fig. 2, element 206), said web site system including a merchandise database of information pertaining to auction lots to be sold in live auctions and a prebid database in which the details of prebids received in respect of said auction lots can be stored (figs. 3 and 4); b) using said web site system to accept prebids in respect of an auction lot (fig. 5-6) by: i) allowing bidders to transmit prebids from bidder computers to said web site system within a specified time frame, wherein each prebid transmitted includes a maximum prebid amount (fig. 7, element 724); ii) recording said prebids in said prebid database (col. 8, lines 51-67; fig. 14, element 1410); iii) upon expiry of said specified time frame accepting no further prebids and selecting the winning prebid (col. 6, lines 55-66); and iv) submitting said winning prebid from the prebid database to the live auction of said auction lot (col. 6, lines 14-67).

In other words, Friedland discloses prebid via an internet. Once the prebid is implemented than a live auction is taken place. The prebid information is stored in a database wherein the bidder selected particular categories of lots. Also, a transition from the active state to the inactive state may occur upon the expiration of a defined bidding period or, in other words, via a timeout.

Re claims 2 and 14, Friedland teaches winning prebid in respect of an auction lot is the prebid with the highest maximum prebid amount (col. 7, lines 1-20; fig. 10 (element 1016)). Friedland chooses highest maximum prebid amount by choosing the bidder with the highest bid.

Re claims 3-5 and 15-17, Friedland teaches live auction is a physical auction and an online auction and wherein live auction is a combined physical and online auction (fig. 3). In figure 3, Friedland discloses both online auction and a physical auction.

Re claims 6-7, 18, 20-21, and 25, Friedland teaches a bidder is only allowed to submit one prebid in respect of each auction lot and a bidder is able to submit more than one prebid in respect of each auction lot (col. 12, line 42 to col. 13, line 14).

Re claims 8-10, 19, and 26, Friedland teaches prebid web site system is operatively connected to said online auction, and wherein said winning prebid is automatically submitted to the live auction, winning prebid comprises manually entering said winning prebid into said physical auction sale, prebid web site system is operatively connected to said online auction, and wherein said winning prebid is automatically submitted to said live auction (col. 14, line 44 to col. 15, line 21).

Re claims 11-12 and 24, Friedland teaches a prebid can optionally include an opening prebid amount in addition to the maximum prebid amount and no two prebids are allowed to have the same maximum prebid amount (col. 6, line 53 to col. 7, line 20).

Friedland discloses the highest prebid amount as the maximum prebid amount.

Re claims 22-23, Friedland teaches prebid control system allows a bidder to view information from the merchandise database from their bidder computer and prebid control system allows a bidder to view information from the prebid database from their bidder computer (figs. 3, 5, and 9). In figures 3, 5, and 9, Friedland's system permits a bidder to view information as claimed in the limitations.
